

Week of February. 28th

I analyzed the technologies that we will use in order to develop the project.

The problem I faced was which technology that we will use for developing the app. I found this problem because in order to develop an app for both ios, android and web we need to use different programming languages for each platform.

But to solve this issue I decided to use Flutter which is a UI software development kit created by Google, and it helps us to develop apps for iOS, Android and web just with one single source code by using Dart language.

Picture from: "The Blade Runner", or building Flutter application with a full feature set (1)

<https://medium.com/@ilabs/the-blade-runner-or-building-flutter-application-with-a-full-feature-set-1-dfba5558373>